

RACE, RACISM AND RESISTANCE in LATIN AMERICA

lecture series

ANTHONY RUSSELL JERRY

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR
UC RIVERSIDE
DEPARTMENT OF ANTHROPOLOGY

Blackness and Producing the Black Subject in Mexico

Dr. Jerry studies the relationships between race and citizenship and investigates the influence that regional discourses of race and racism have on citizenship practices and overall access to citizenship.

This lecture will explore how the concept of citizenship allows for a richer understanding of blackness in Mexico, the relationship of the black subject in the construction of mestizaje, and the manner in which a perceived Afro culture serves as the basis for the Mexican state's control over Black identities.
